

6 WAYS TO Mix and Match Your Furniture FOR DIFFERENT SEASONS

Take a Look at Your Seasons

During spring, you'll find that seeds begin to grow again. The weather you can expect during spring will be warm, but not too warm that you'll mistake it for summer. You can expect quite a bit of rain as well.

Summertime is a favorite of many. Temperatures begin to rise and the sun is higher. Summer is when everyone tends to feel more laid back and inclined to go on vacation.

Autumn is another season that is loved by people. Everything about this season screams cozy and inviting. Animals are preparing for the cold and migrating to warmer regions. Many cultures celebrate various festivals during this season.

Winter is known as the polar opposite of summer but is nonetheless a favorite of those who favor a chilly atmosphere. It's the coldest season in the calendar. Around the world, some might experience snow and some might experience cold rain.

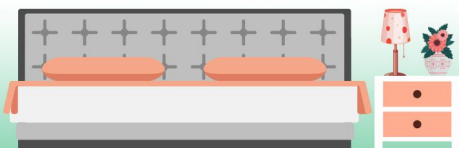

Basic Mix and Match Tricks

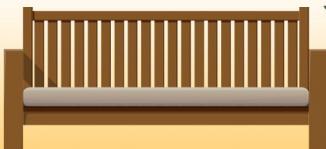

Begin by choosing a theme for your home decor in the Philippines. It doesn't have to be too complicated but at least the theme should be well-established. You don't have to match every furniture with one another. The theme you have can ground your furniture.

Starting with Spring

Spring is all about a new cycle. To make your redesign stand out, don't be that person who thinks that florals are what makes spring unique. Florals are beautiful but they can be repetitive if used unwisely. Use your florals carefully and don't push the narrative too far. Focus on bringing a fresh look to your redesign. Incorporate linens and pastel colors to bring in light to the room. After a cold winter, it's refreshing to embrace the sun in the most elegant way with flowy materials.

Moving Towards Summer

Summertime is exciting. Go big and bold during this season. Beat the heat by avoiding leather upholstery. Get yourself rattan and linen furniture for a tropical vacation vibe. These materials are environmentally sustainable while also being elegant. It's all about properly styling everything. If you're heading towards a rustic vibe, you can add a pop of minimalism here and there.

Falling for Fall

Fall is when you should begin to relax and shift to a more laid back theme. Warm terracotta's and wooden furniture is great for this season. You can pair these with warm and orange tones to complete the fall vibe. Another focal point of fall is being warm, cozy, and inviting. You can incorporate heavy textured fabric in warm tones as an accent to your couches for a comfortable and inviting look.

Winter is Coming

Winter is one of the best seasons of the year to spend time with your loved ones. You can incorporate colors of fire and ice for this season. White furniture combined with warm fiery decor can be beautiful and adds an interesting contrast. Don't forget about the cozy furniture you added during your fall redecoration. Avoid looking dead by remembering to add flowers such as poinsettias in specific areas of your house. The added florals bring instant life to any room with an added bonus for the holidays.
